

RA 3 Revised Topic: How FIFA handed consequences to South Africa in 1965 for apartheid and inequality created an effect across the world in the racism, discrimination, and inequality around the world

David Bingham

History 105

DHP 1

I attend class at 12:10

Topic: How FIFA handed consequences to South Africa in 1965 for apartheid and inequality created an effect across the world in the racism, discrimination, and inequality around the world.

Each source i found was used through the library resource page we use from our library

On November 21st 2014, South African President Jacob Zuma Friday called for global efforts to end racism in sports. Racism in sports has never left the scene, multiple color barriers have been broken, but sports has a very long way to go. Over the years the world has formed summits to come together and discuss the issue of racism in sports. At one of the summits president Zuma stated "The world cannot allow sports to be used to perpetuate ideas which divide humanity and limit the ability of people to work together for development regardless of race, skin colour, creed, religion, gender and sexual orientation,". He goes on to explain the idea if the barrier of discrimination in sports can be ended it may not solve all world problems but be a focal point to better the world. Going on to say "because what happens in sports is a true reflection in microcosm of what happens in society generally. It is against this background that sports people must not just defend their sports against racism but must skillfully use sports to actively participate in the struggle to eradicate racism in society as pursued by the entire progressive humanity". With this idea from President Zuma it gives the idea of growth and a beginning of equality not just in sports but possibly to the world.

[1] Indo Asian News Service (IANS), South African president calls for end to racism in sports, IANS English; New Delhi, Nov 21, 2014, <https://search.proquest.com/docview/1626716464?accountid=14902>

Geographic Focus: South africa and sports across the world

Search terms: African Racism, and sports

David Bingham

History 105

2/6/17

i attend class at 12:10

Mon,Wed,Fri

Research 2

<http://search.proquest.com/docview/118649218/A5EB79AB1DA749BBPQ/3?accountid=14902>

in a Article i found it was a newspaper article pressed out in 1969 explaining because of apartheid Black south African soccer stars are pushed out of country and forced to play somewhere else. when interviewed the South African soccer stars desired to play for their home country but because of theses harsh laws from apartheid have made it impossible to do so. When asking the stars about playing they said it represents more than just the game to play for south Africa but a sign of strength and gratitude they have for their homeland. But because of Apartheid FIFA, has penalized their country for the wrongs and now they have to leave and find their chance somewhere else. This creating a decline in winnings and performing better at the world cup for south Africa. not just affecting their team but economy in less money being brought in from the team because of less support.

Cite

<http://search.proquest.com/docview/118649218/A5EB79AB1DA749BBPQ/3?accountid=14902>

Questions

Without fifa getting involved would Apartheid still be going on in south africa?

Was South Africa's punishment of not being able to play in national games because of Apartheid a fair consequence?

David Bingham

History 105

in a Article i found it was a newspaper article pressed out in 1969 explaining because of apartheid Black south African soccer stars are pushed out of country and forced to play somewhere else. when interviewed the South African soccer stars desired to play for their home country but because of theses harsh laws from apartheid have made it impossible to do so. When asking the stars about playing they said it represents more than just the game to play for south Africa but a sign of strength and gratitude they have for their homeland. But because of Apartheid FIFA, has penalized their country for the wrongs and now they have to leave and find their chance somewhere else. This creating a decline in winnings and performing better at the world cup for south Africa. not just affecting their team but economy in less money being brought in from the team because of less support.

Revised

Hook: From 1960 to 1994 Apartheid in South Africa created the world to take a stand a change the world for better.

Thesis: Because of the the consequences handed out by FIFA to South Africa from 1965 to in the it created an effect across the world in the racism, discrimination, and inequality around the world.

Paragraph 3- Ananalysis of first consquences handed out by FIFA for apartheid

Paragraph 4- how this affected the economy in South Africa

Paragraph 5- analyze how America and Europe reacted to apartheid in South Africa

Paragraph 6- Lead into shooting of 1970 in south africa expelled from olympics creating uproar to america and europe

Paragraph 7- The sounds of south africa and white and black athletes and how its affected them in life as well as well playing and representing their country

Paragraph 8- how the world and south africa worked together to break this rule and boundaries and open sports to equality in south africa

Conclusion- Why the decisions and FIFA voting to discipline south africa help bring apartheid to an end in 1994

END NOTE

[1] Staff Reporter, Apartheid: The political influence of sport, (Jan 16, 2007,)

[2] Not said , Policy of Apartheid Blocking Soccer in South Africa: Black African Stars Are Forced to Play in Other Countries Many Still Express Desire to Compete in Own Homeland (NEW York: ,1969), S29

Will also be using the book you recommended and have rented from the library

Geographic Focus

America, Europe, South Africa

Search terms: African Racism, and sports

Historical question: What role did FIFA play in helping advocate and stop Apartheid in South Africa and making sports a way to bring out equality and free discrimination?